Digital Accessibility for You (DA4You) – FREE Online Multiplier Event

Digital Media Accessibility: tools, training, creativity and empowerment

University of East Anglia, UK

3 December 2020, 9.30am – 1pm (GMT)

This live online event is for anyone interested in accessibility and digital media, including people who are interested in using digital accessibility tools, user associations, practitioners, trainers, and researchers. There will be BSL interpreters and live captioning at the event.

There will be presentations by one of the UK's leading sight loss charities RNIB, media accessibility researchers and DA4You project members.

The DA4You project

Digital Accessibility for You (DA4You), ref: KA205-2018-022, is a two-year project (2019-2021) financially supported by the Erasmus+ Programme of the EU. It aims to empower young adults to use digital media for democratic participation in the debate on accessibility across disability, geography and language.
