OBJECTIVES

The processes of globalisation and the metamorphosis of English as the lingua franca of international trade have meant that both the legal and international relations sectors now require a labour force with a high level of linguistic competence in professional English. International certification in the area of legal English also demands highly specialized and individualized training. UVEG's University Expert in International Legal English (ILEX) aims to fill the existing void in the teaching of the type of language a lawyer needs, in order to develop strong professional skills in the main areas of legal English: civil law, commercial law, banking and finance law, competition law, transnational law, real estate law, IPL, etc. In addition, ILEX will help prepare for the international certification TOLES (Test of Legal English Skills, International Division of the Law Society of England and Wales) a test recognized as proof of legal English skills by law firms, corporations, and international organizations. ILEX is also particularly valuable for Master's (and final-year) students, who meet admission requirements, in the areas of law, economy, translation and English studies. Finally, this postgraduate degree will also prove instrumental for those preparing for the English language tests in competitions launched by the Central State Administration, Regional Governments, Local Administrations, Autonomous Agencies, European Union, etc.
